Help us to ensure we hold accurate information

Carrier1 Telecom takes all reasonable precautions to ensure that the personal information it collects, uses and discloses is accurate, complete and up-to date. However, the accuracy of that information depends to a large extent on the information you provide. That's why Carrier1 Telecom recommends that you:

- let Carrier1 Telecom know if there are any errors in your account information; and
- Keep Carrier1 Telecom up-to-date with changes to your account information such as your company name, ABN and physical and billing addresses.

Security of this information

The transfer of information across any media may involve a certain degree of risk, and the Internet is no different. However, helping you to keep your information secure is very important to Carrier1 Telecom. In order to protect the security of personal information transmitted to Carrier1 Telecom online, our Web servers support the use of the Secure Socket Layer (SSL) Protocol where appropriate. Using this protocol, information transferred between our systems is encrypted. You can also use simple precautions to help protect your security, such as protecting against the unauthorised use of your username or password or other authentication id.

How You can access your personal information

You have a right to access your personal information, subject to some exceptions allowed under Privacy Act 1988 (Cth).
